Old-time Alaskans are very much perturbed over censorship of news from that territory. They claim the Japanese occupation of certain of the Aleutian islands is not to be taken too lightly for, as they point out, the occupation of Alaska from Aleutian bases means only the seizure of several widely separated cities—a far different matter than attempted invasion of the U. S.

Naval big-wigs seem pretty complacent about the whole thing, saying the Japanese moved in on the Aleutians after their defeat at Midway merely to save face. Remarkable Life magazine, "Whose face?"

I'm inclined to agree with the old-timers, myself, and believe we should have all the facts from our northern outposts insofar as they reveal no information of value to the enemy. That the occupation of the Aleutians constitutes a real threat to the U. S. and to Russia cannot be doubted, and most of us would like to know what's being done about it. Blaming inactivity upon the ever-present fog won't quite fill the bill; after all, the fog hasn't been much of a deterrent to the Japs.

In my remarks concerning unnecessary noise in the local theater last week I did not mean to imply that the management hasn't been doing its best to obtain quiet. As a matter of fact, the management has been exerting considerable pressure for the past several weeks, and it looks as though the racket is being brought under control. A very few natural born hoodlums are at the bottom of all the disturbances, and as soon as they are detected and tossed out the management's grief will be over. Anyway, it's a good job being well done.

Threat of reprisal recently caused a Campbell resident to withdraw his complaint in a case of drunken driving. He was ready to do his duty, I understand, until friends of the culprit informed him that his determination to see justice done would only lead to a thorough beating. Well, the prospects of getting one's head knocked off for performing one's civic duty is not a pleasant one, but in cases of this kind it is always well to remember that threats are not always carried out as offhandedly as they are made, and that, if the threats seem sincere, there are always ways in which one may protect oneself without resorting to violence. It is still possible, I believe, to secure a court order enjoining an individual or group of individuals to keep the peace—in other words, to "lay off"—under severe penalty for disobedience. There are other ways not so peaceful.

The law-abiding citizen who has a just charge to make in regard to dangerous traffic violations and who fails to make the complaint for fear of reprisal, is only encouraging greater rowdiness on the streets and highways. Law and order still prevail in this country, and will protect the person who is trying to do his duty from those who like

Jack Anderson To Talk On the Rubber Situation

How the nation is working feverishly to relieve the present critical rubber shortage, will be told this Friday night by Congressman Jack Anderson, speaking from Washington in another of his radio talks on the war effort and national affairs. The program will be heard over station KQW between 6 and 6:45.

Fred McCargar, secretary of the Salinas chamber of commerce, and father of the guayule rubber project now being rushed to fulfillment in the Salinas valley, will introduce Congressman Anderson. It was McCargar who called the potentialities of guayule rubber development to Congressman Anderson's attention.

In his talk the Congressman will trace just what has been, and is being done by the government to relieve the rubber shortage, which caught the nation unprepared when the Japs took over the Dutch and British East Indies.

MILITIA SEEKS RIFLE RANGE

At Monday's meeting of the local unit of the state militia a committee consisting of Bob Weaver and George Husted was appointed to secure a rifle range where the men can practice marksmanship. Monday was decided upon as the regular weekly drill night.

A recruiting station where interested men may sign up for membership in the organization has been established at Guy Farley's real estate office.

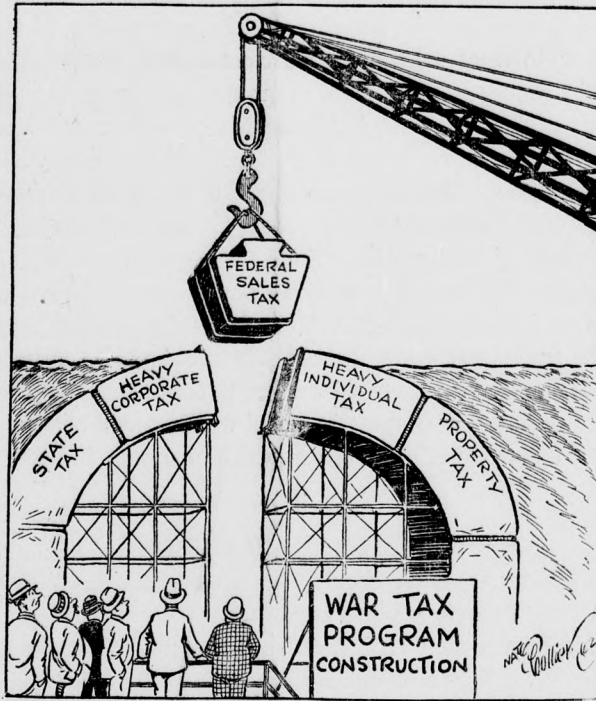

Mrs. Dorothy Weaver, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver and family for several weeks, will leave Sunday for Plymouth where she will visit for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dixon. From there she will go to Los Angeles to visit and about Sept. 1 will leave for her home in Salt Lake City.

Lt.-Cmdr. Elgin Blaine Hurlburt, who has been in the navy for some 18 months, is visiting his parents in Pacific Grove while awaiting new orders. Young Hurlburt was in the naval reserve while attending San Jose State college and went into active service and has really seen "active" service. He is a nephew of Justice John D. Blaine of Campbell.

THE NECESSARY KEYSTONE

AMERICAN COMMANDER IN EUROPE — Lieut. General Dwight D. Eisenhower, designated Commanding General of American forces in the European theater with headquarters in London, is a native of Texas, entered the Army upon his graduation from West Point in 1915. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal for his activity in training tank corps troops during the World War.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS ARE ANNOUNCED

The U. S. Civil Service commission announced today that its district offices would recruit airway and airport traffic controllers at the trainee grade, paying $1,800 a year. Applications may be filed until further notice at the district office, San Francisco. Citizens, 20 to 35 years, with general experience in the field of air-traffic control may apply, if they possess a current pilot's certificate that shows they are physically qualified for commercial pilot rating. Application for higher grades of air-traffic controller will no longer be accepted.

Full information as to requirements may be obtained at the post office.

The commission has also announced an examination for mechanic's helper and helper general at U. S. Naval Air station, Alameda, Calif. For information in regard to the requirements and the character of the examination, and for application blanks, apply promptly to the Recorder, labor board, Naval Air station, Alameda.

WINE-MAKING FOR HOME USE IS REGULATED

The alcohol tax unit of the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue has issued a circular containing the necessary information in Regulation No. 7 regarding the making of wine for family use.

Form 1541, which every person desiring to make wine for home use must fill out in duplicate and file one copy with the district supervisor at least five days before commencing operations, may be obtained on request from J. H. Maloney, Alcohol Tax Unit, Room 142, Federal Office building, San Francisco.

These forms must be filled out and filed each year wine is made.

People Urged To Keep Rubber Drive Alive

"Keeping the scrap rubber drive alive will remain a job for all of us, until every pound of rubber not already serving an essential purpose is in the service of our country," said a spokesman for the California State Automobile association this week.

"Motorists have a direct interest in maintaining the flow of scrap rubber to the reclaiming plants.

"Let us continue to contribute not only rubber articles as they wear out, but keep looking about us for anything made of rubber which is not absolutely indispensable or which we can replace with a substitute."

The automobile association reported receipt of advices from Washington, D. C., indicating intention of the government to continue the scrap rubber salvage program, centralized in the general salvage division of the War Production board.

San Franciscan Addresses Club Members Here

H. F. S. Stoll of San Francisco, public relations agent of the California Wine Industry, spoke to the Kiwanis club Tuesday under the heading "Romance of the California Wine Industry." He traced the growth of the wine and grape industry from our early history on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Beginning with the founding of the California missions, at each of which olives, figs and grapes were planted, to the present time, the industry has grown until it produces an annual revenue of $43,500,000 to growers and wine makers, and is the second largest agricultural crop in the state.

Ira Grim was presiding chairman.

Rev. Donald H. Baldwin was officially inducted into membership by Dr. W. R. Morgan, a past president.

Next week Capt. Thomas McGowan of the Salvation Army will discuss the "Social Program In This War," and will be presented by E. Russell Kennedy.

ICE FOLLIES S.F.'s LEADING ATTRACTION

Biggest attraction for Bay area entertainment seekers continued this week to be the glittering and glamorous Ice Follies of 1942, all-new edition of the famous skating show, now appearing nightly at Winterland, in San Francisco.

The smooth-flowing, richly-costumed revue is steadily adding to its audience total of many millions.

Fourth daytime performance of the ice spectacle has been set for Saturday, July 25. The complete night show will be given, commencing at 2:30 p. m., it was declared by the management, and tickets are available at special rates.

Production, costumes, lighting and music have been entirely changed, and great names have been added to the national skating stars.

Amazing to those who see the Ice Follies for the first time is the transposition of dance routines to ice skating. Experts explain that figure skating is based upon dance steps, with a rapid and continuous rhythm almost indescribably beautiful.

Comedy is being stressed, along with the graceful performance of highly trained precision numbers which feature the gorgeous "Ice Follies." Comedians again include the renowned team of Shipstad and Johnson, Frick and Frack, the McKellen brothers and others. Bess Ehrhardt and Roy Shipstad, Fran Claudet and Osborne Colson, Idi Papez and Karl Zwack are among the other famous ice skating stars appearing nightly.

Ice Follies tickets are available for every performance at Winterland, Walnut 0112; at Sherman Clay boxoffices in San Francisco and Oakland; and by mail order addressed to Winterland, Post & Steiner streets, San Francisco.

Registration of Rental Houses For Campbell

Arrangements have been completed with the Office of Price Administration so that owners of rental dwellings in Campbell may register them in Campbell. This will be done at G. E. Farley's real estate office next Tuesday, July 28, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Blanks will be furnished which are to be made out in triplicate by the registrant, and everyone renting houses, duplexes or apartments must register. A separate blank must be used for each unit.

Edmarie Evans and George M. Florey of San Francisco were applicants this week for a marriage license. Miss Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Evans of North Central avenue, has grown up in Campbell and graduated from Campbell Union High school in June of 1938.

A CITY RE-BORN

America is welcoming a new community into her midst, a community proud to bear the name of Lidice, namesake of the Czech town which six weeks ago was laid waste by the Nazi terror, and its entire male population slaughtered in reprisal for the killing of Hangman Heydrich.

The Nazi government, once again revealing itself as without conscience or decency, announced the deliberate destruction of the town of Lidice, the murder of its men and youths, and the imprisonment or killing of its women and children. In their best pouter-pigeon style, the Nazis doubtless assumed they were wiping from the face of the earth the name of Lidice and every vestige of its patriotic martyrs. They were terribly mistaken.

On a hillside in southern Illinois, overlooking the majestic Mississippi, stands a new community of some hundred homes which, in official ceremonies, has taken for itself the name of the desolated Czech town. The smoldering ashes of that community which stood proudly among the once fair valleys of Bohemia, has given birth to a new Lidice, cradled in the heart of a new land of freedom. The martyrs to liberty never truly die. Their sacrifice sustains in the hearts of men that love of freedom, that unconquerable will to oppose and defeat oppression which, through the ages, have guided man's slow advance out of primeval darkness toward that time when all men may live, work and worship in the clear light of freedom.

THE INCOME TAX WILL GET YOU!

The income tax will get you—whether you watch out or not.

The federal tax for this year is steep enough. It has hit wage earners who had never before come within range of that particular tax scythe. But the 1942 bill approved by the House Ways and Means committee will cut to the bone.

A handyman making a scant $600—$50 a month—will be caught by the scythe to the extent of $15!

The butcher boy earning $1000 a year must turn over $89 to Uncle Sam!

The clerk earning $1500 must save $181 out of it as his share of the extraordinary levies of costly wartime!

Californians have, however, a chance to protect themselves against squeezing out additional money for the war-rich state treasury in meeting the state income tax. On the November ballot will be an initiative measure to repeal the state income tax.

Most likely California taxpayers will kill the superfluous state income tax November 3. For the war-financing U. S. treasury, in need of every spare dime, is going to get them—and for plenty!

A QUISLING SPEAKS OF HONOR

"His country's honor," says Pierre Laval, makes it imperative that French warships immobilized in Alexandria refuse to cooperate with the British fleet there, a statement revealing that one of the most notable qualities lacking in this quisling is a sense of humor—and of honor.

A DAY WILL COME!

The Flying Tigers, famed American volunteer group now returning from China before being mustered into the regular army air corps, gave utterance to a common refrain on reaching the United States, "We could have saved Burma if we had had a few more planes!" Even though lacking a decisive balance of air power, the fliers of the American volunteer group proceeded to cover themselves with glory with hair-raising exploits against the Japanese in the past six months, a period in which it is estimated they shot down some 400 enemy planes. There is a limit, however, to what valor alone can accomplish. Desperately needing planes, the volunteer group achieved miracles of heroism, but it could not achieve the impossible against a foe vastly superior in numbers. Throughout Japan's campaign of conquest in the south Pacific as well, the recurrent cry of America's defending airmen was, "Send us more planes!" Not superiority in skill or staying power, but superiority in equipment enabled the Japanese to sweep through the Indies and southeast Asia. Once America is in a position to make tenfold answer to that plea of "more planes," a new chapter in aerial warfare will be written in the Pacific—at the expense of Japan.

ENEMY IN OUR MIDST

When America works, it works hard. When America plays, it plays hard.

In leisure-time activities last year, more of the nation's workers suffered accidents than they did while working in shipyards, foundries and all other industrial plants. No less than 2,400,000 men suffered off-the-job accidents compared to the 1,600,000 hurt on the job.

But in either event, a total of 480,000,000 man-days lost from work due to injuries represents a critical drain on war-time production. Carelessness—in omission or commission—is a stealthy saboteur which in the past year killed 50,000 men and women workers on and off the job. The destruction of these precious human resources in the factory, the home, and on the highway, confronts the nation with a genuine challenge, and makes plain the necessity of greatly enlarged and intensified safety programs.

With an acute shortage of skilled manpower already a liability to the country, no longer can an accident record be ignored which, in the past year, brought death or injury to every 14th person in the nation, and rated as the first cause of death for all men between the ages of 23 and 38. Moreover, the evidence is on the books that accidents are preventable. Thousands of plants have succeeded in cutting their accident rates from 25 to 85 per cent. Scores of cities, through all-out safety campaigns, have sent their traffic accident rates plummeting.

We can, and must, defeat this silent saboteur in our midst.

WHY NOT SAVE IT NOW?

Britain's ministry of supply has just issued a stern order making it a punishable offense for any person to throw away or destroy rags, string, or rope. Penalty: a possible $2000 fine or two years in jail. Leaner days lie ahead for this country, too. Why not now, instead of later, make it our duty to save up conscientiously, needed types of scrap materials, so that when future collection drives come, we'll have the goods to deliver.

THE CENSOR'S STORY

On Bastille Day, the French censor at Vichy blue-penciled a United Press story. It came through: "VICHY, July 14—Two hundred words censored. End."

By killing the entire story, that censor simply wrote: "French riot against Axis. Demonstrate for America!—for England!" He told the story more forcefully than the reporter could have written it.

Travel is always heaviest on week-ends. By planning to start your trip on a Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, you have a wider choice of accommodations and you make room for those who must travel on week-ends—war workers and men in the armed services.

be an early bird

Get full information well in advance of the day you plan to leave. Make your reservation and purchase your rail and Pullman tickets early. You thus are assured of accommodations and you avoid last minute rush. It's a good idea to buy your return reservation at the same time.

Cancel promptly IF PLANS CHANGE

The space you reserve on a train is valuable—too valuable to go unused. If you are forced to change your plans, please cancel your reservation and turn in your Pullman ticket for refund immediately so the space can be used by other travelers. Remember that seats on the Streamlined Daylights must be reserved in advance. Here, too, we ask you to turn in your reservation promptly if you decide not to go.

don't waste space

If you need a compartment, a drawing room, or a bedroom by all means buy it. But please don't take more space than absolutely necessary. A berth may be all that you really need. Or share a room with a friend or business associate when you are traveling together.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Navy Cruisers are built in two classes, light and heavy, the latter displacing about 10,000 tons. Our navy has about an equal number of light and heavy Cruisers, the 10,000 ton Cruiser costing approximately $20,000,000. Many Cruisers are under construction and many more are needed.

To pay for these speedy and powerful ships with their heavy guns and armament we must buy War Bonds. Citizens of a large town or a given community, working in unity, could buy one of these ships for the Navy if they put at least ten percent of their income in War Bonds every pay day.

THE NEW MYSTERY THRILLERS

Shear the Black Sheep by David Dodge tops the list of new mysteries just off the press. This author's first attempt at writing books appeared on the market last fall in the form of Death and Taxes, if you remember, and it is destined to go far in its army of fans. Mr. Dodge is a native San Franciscan by "birth and by inclination," as he states it. "My travels have been confined to returning to the city, whenever, in a weak moment, I wandered away." James Whitney, certified public accountant, is the fellow in Shear the Black Sheep who handles the shears. From San Francisco to Los Angeles he travels, close on the heels of his victim. By victim I mean the "case" he is to solve. Bad company and too much money are the elements that tangle the lives of everyone in the book.

As one reviewer so aptly remarked, "It's a slick job, knowingly done," and one to be long remembered.

Terror by Twilight by Kathleen Moore Knight is a Crime club selection and a new Margot Blair mystery. Margot Blair, of the public relations firm of Norman and Blair, had a unique duty to perform for one of her clients. She had complete charge of outfitting and dressing old Benjamin Embrie's granddaughter, Deborah Bourne. Margot had never seen the girl but had enjoyed correspondence with her and the pleasant task of using unlimited funds in such an unusual way. But when Margot eventually met her charge, she not only discovered a personality tottering on the brink of insanity but also ran right into the midst of murder clothed in such deep mystery that experts could not fathom it. In this mystery the author shows that human emotions and personal conflicts are of the greatest importance. This book has never been published in any other form.

Death Rings A Bell by Cortland Fitzsimmons takes the reader to Cape Cod for a rare and thrill-chilling trip into mystery and murder led by a summer theatrical troupe and

AT A closely contested municipal election in New York the Tammany ticket seemed in grave danger. Accordingly suitable steps were taken. Scarcely had the polls opened when a group of trained and experienced repeaters marched into a down-town voting place. "What name?" inquired the election clerk of the leader of the squad, who was red-haired and freckled and had a black eye! The young gangster glanced down at a slip of paper in his hand, to refresh his memory. "Isadore Mendelheim," he said then. "That's not your real name, and you know it!" said a suspicious challenger for the reform ticket. "It is me name," said the repeater, "and I'm goin' to vote under it—see?" From down the line came a voice: "Don't let that guy bluff you, Casey. Soit'nly your name is Mendelheim!" (American News Features, Inc.)

WAR GASES

By DR. WARD L. MOULD
Medical Gas Officer
U. S. Office of Civilian Defense

IV—THE LUNG IRRITANTS

Most of the known lung irritant gases are "non-persistent"—that is, they are quickly diluted by air to such an extent that they are incapable of causing injury. Chlorine, which has a pungent odor; phosgene, which smells like fresh cut hay; and chlorpicrin, which has a sweetish odor like fly paper, compose this group.

Of the non-persistent gases the one most likely to be used is phosgene. A moderate amount of phosgene in the area will cause a "catching of the breath" and a sense of tightness in the chest. Other than this momentary discomfort, the individual may have no symptoms for as long as 24 hours. If injury has been mild, there may be some increase in the breathing rate. The injured person becomes drowsy and may fall asleep, feeling refreshed on waking. He will probably experience some tightness in his chest and have a cough.

With more serious injury, breathing becomes more difficult and a bluish color may creep over the face, first appearing about the lips.

Lung irritants impair the ability of the lungs to absorb oxygen. To lessen the victim's need for oxygen, he must be kept at absolute rest, and must remain in bed for 24 to 48 hours, even if no symptoms develop.

If symptoms do develop, even those indicating only a slight injury, the injured person must be cared for by a doctor.

With proper rest and hospital care, complete recovery will occur in nearly all lung irritant cases. Research shows that, contrary to the current public conception, those who recover from injuries caused by these gases are no more susceptible to pneumonia and tuberculosis than persons who have not been gassed.

Tear gas and sneeze and vomiting gas are non-persistent agents which may be classed as "nuisance gases." Symptoms appear quickly after exposure. Tear gas causes smarting and watering of the eyes. The individual should leave the affected area immediately, facing the wind and keeping the eyes open. Symptoms will quickly disappear. Eyes should not be rubbed or bandaged.

Sneeze and vomiting gases cause considerable distress of a temporary nature. Following exposure, the nose should be washed out with a solution containing a teaspoonful of baking soda to a glass of lukewarm water. This will neutralize the agent and reduce discomfort. If severely gassed with these types, a short period of bed rest is required.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

California voters, when they prepare to consider the proposal outlawing the use of secondary boycotts in labor disputes during the war emergency, need to separate the wheat from the chaff—and not to allow themselves to be stampeded by specious claims that a vote in favor of the bill is a vote against labor.

Actually, many of the members as well as leaders of organized labor—and many of labor's staunchest champions in public life—look upon secondary boycotts as dangerous labor practice, and there is no unanimity of opinion on the issue among union men, even in peace times. And in war times, when the crying need of the country is for uninterrupted production, it is probable that the great majority of union men are much opposed to being called out on strikes, either primary or secondary.

Let's take a look at the public statements and official rulings of labor officials and boards of the government on this issue, keeping in mind that the sources quoted are by their very nature friendly to the cause of union labor.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, in her annual report of June 30, 1942, condemned secondary boycotts without reservation, saying:

"The public sometimes charges labor with excessive practices . . .

"Excessive methods of picketing and demonstration, the raiding by one union crowd of the membership of another, stoppages of work due to jurisdictional disputes, boycotting of goods produced by the labor of other unions and the secondary boycott are all practices deemed by the public to be excessive and not in the public interest . . . Whether such practices were ever necessary is not now under consideration, but the public believes that trade unions which have legal protection under the National Labor Relations board should be quick to abandon methods and practices which lack restraint and due regard for public opinion.

"The establishment of the committees, boards and tribunals before which real grievances can be effectively and realistically presented has to a very large extent modified any need for these very excessive practices and the labor movement should be quick to assist all of its members in abandoning such practices."

Similarly, the National War Labor board, in the case of Food Machinery company and International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, specifically disapproved of secondary boycotts by requiring the inclusion of the following clause pertaining to such boycotts and hot cargo practices in the contract adopted by the parties in that case:

"No employee shall refuse to work upon any material, machinery, equipment or supplies, on account of the origin or transportation thereof, or on account of membership or non-membership of any worker in any labor organization fabricating, manufacturing, handling or transporting the same."

There can be no dispute about where the United States government stands on this issue.

The President of the United States—the man who has been more friendly to labor's cause than any other man who has ever occupied the White House—has called on the members of labor as a patriotic service to their country in its hour of need to refrain from all strikes, boycotts, slow-downs or work stoppages during the war emergency. (The bill outlawing secondary boycotts in California applies only to the war period.)

The secretary of labor, who has been so friendly to union labor that she has been known as a labor partisan, has served notice on labor that the public frowns on secondary boycotts and that labor must quickly eliminate such excessive practices.

And the National War Labor board has specifically outlawed the hot cargo practice and secondary boycotts by contract provisions.

There is no need for bitter controversy over this issue. There is simply a need for clear thinking—and for a realization on the part of labor leaders, as well as rank and file voters, that secondary boycotts at this time are an aid to Hitler and Hirohito, not to America.

1018 of Our Men Have Gone to War!

One out of every ten of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's 10,000 men employees has joined the armed forces of the United States. One thousand and eighteen names have been inscribed on our Honor Roll. More will be listed. They are serving their country in the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Air Corps and some with the United Nations. In recognition of their patriotic devotion to duty we proudly publish here the names of employees of the San Jose Division of this Company who have entered military service.
